

— The Story —

R. Krzanowski is an academic who was seeking to publish a computer science manuscript.

With experience in academic publishing, R. Krzanowski knew the importance of editing and was eager to work with an editing service to ensure his manuscript, The Tao of Network Design, was ready to be published.

— The Goal —

He hoped to work with an editor who would enhance his work in preparation for publishing.

R. Krzanowski sought an editing company that could strike a balance between personalization and affordability. He wanted to ensure his book was the best it could be by partnering with an editor who truly cared about his work.

— The Solution —

Scribendi's editing service gave personalized feedback, helping him get published.

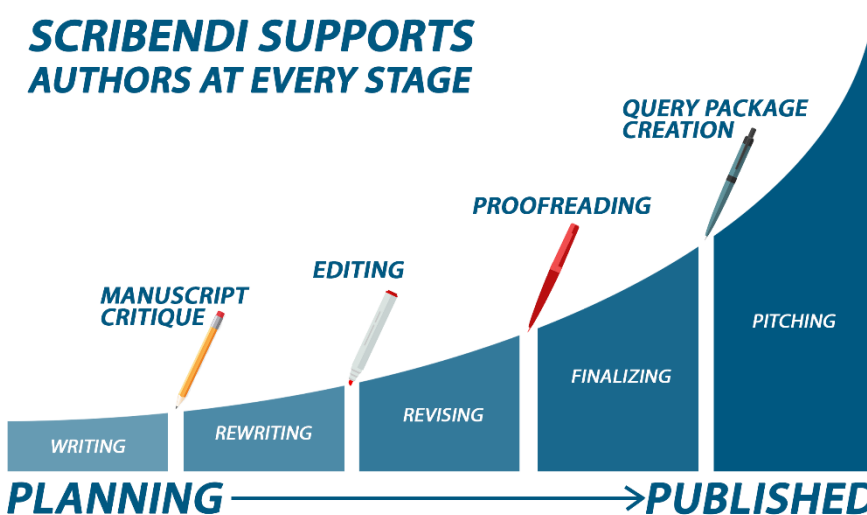

Scribendi's editing service struck an ideal balance for R. Krzanowski, and he was particularly impressed with his editor's meticulous but polite comments and the friendliness of the customer service representatives.

Scribendi's editing services have everything you want and need: easy pricing options with the quote widget, multiple turnaround times, and numerous high-quality services to choose from.

- Roman Krzanowski, PhD,
Author, The Tao of Network Design

SCRIBENDI SUPPORTS AUTHORS AT EVERY STAGE

Available in paperback and ebook.

